SPRAYING METHODS.

Ordinarily we find crude oil emulsion prepared by putting thirty or forty gallons of water in a spraying tank; then put in twelve or fifteen pounds of whale oil or other soap and boil until the soap is dissolved; then pump fifty gallons of oil into the tank, keeping the steam turned in all the time; then fill the tank to 200 gallons, keeping the agitation going all the time. We use this emulsion one year and if not comparatively free from scale follow the second year with sulphur and lime. We removed the upper story from our thirty-year-old apple orchard, and now find comparatively little difficulty in reaching the tops of the trees with the spray, standing on an elevated platform on the wagon.

Sulphur and Lime.

We use sulphur and lime on our peaches, pears and most varieties of plums and prunes. In our various orchards we have three, eight or ten horsepower boilers with elevated vats for cooking the sulphur and lime and the emulsion and use four power and two hand sprayers. With these modern means of applying the remedies, is it not surprising that hundreds and thousands of acres of apple orchards in western New York and Canada between Hamilton and the Niagara river are being abandoned? In many districts you have scarcely enough apples to supply home demand and canning factories, let alone any for export. There have always been great fears among small fruit growers that soon there would be an overproduction and no remunerative market, as in 1896. This San Jose scale should allay all fears on that score. These untreated scaley orchards are fit for the brush pile in from two to five years, said Willard Hoskins in a paper read before the Ontario Fruit Growers' association.

A NEW STRAWBERRY.

The Norwood strawberry was named and given the first prize by the Massachusetts Horticultural society at the exhibition this year. This strawberry is supposed to be a cross between the Marshall and Corsica, as it came up where the Marshall had been grown, and near where the Corsica was grown at the same time.

I believe the Norwood is considered the best all round strawberry in existence. The plant is strong and healthy, making a liberal number of strong runners, but not excessive. The berry is conic and regular in shape. Not a cockleberry was found this season. The quality is unsurpassed and the size unequalled, some attaining the enormous size of three inches in diameter. Four such berries would fill a box and be crowded, states a writer in American Cultivator. Color, bright red all the way through, growing darker with age; is firm, a good keeper and will ship well; has a perfect blossom and holds its size well through the season and remains in bearing a long time; picked the first box June 18 and the last one July 18. The largest berries were found in matted rows or beds, although the plants had received no extra culture.

The grade is just as good as ever, the price is less. We are now able to compete with yards on the T. & P. and ask the opportunity to figure with those from the Monument locality who have been hauling from these points.
